Eyedetect

EyeDetect from the Converus Company is a proven lie detection system which is easy to use, and provides rapid results. Making use of eye movements, it realizes that it is easier to tell the truth than to lie, and the eyes show it. With computer algorithms developed over a span of 12 years, EyeDetect has proven to be a powerful tool for a company's recruitment process. Future uses can expand not just from legal uses, and for recruitment, but also for online apps, dating and relationship apps as well. Integrity tests are going to include this tool due to the high degree of reliability of the results.
