

COMMON COMPARSION TOPICS

WHAT IS A COMPARISON TOPIC?

A comparison topic is a low base rate act or target behavior. It is used to measure and record a baseline reaction of the examinee when there is a very high likelihood the examinee is truthful about the topic.

Comparison questions should meet the following requirements:

- 1) Have a low prior probability of the examinee having committed the act (preferably less than 3% probability)
- 2) Have the most severe consequences when compared to the relevant question(s)
- 3) Be salient or of notable significance to the examinee, and also a topic of interest to the test administrator
- 4) Be plausible such that the examinee believes the question is feasible or conceivable that they could have participated in the act or target behavior

Below is a list of common comparison topics based on the following testing market. Please note that these are examples and not a comprehensive list.
